

Talking about Weather Reporting

Weather reports on the television are written by people who watch the weather and then use symbols to tell everyone.

You are going to have a go at making your own weather report.

Weather reporters usually stand in front of a large map. You can either draw a simple map of the UK or use the one in this pack and label the countries which make up the United Kingdom.

Cut the weather symbols out and have a go at telling mums, dads or teddies what has happened with the weather today. Can you tell them what the weather will be like tomorrow in England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland? You can make it up but think about the season which we are in and the weather we are likely to have.

If you need to I have included some sentences below to help you.

Hello everyone, this weather report is being brought to you by.....(your name)

As you can see, the weather today is (say what the weather is doing and stick the symbols on the map).

This morning the weather was (say what it was doing at breakfast time) but now the weather is (say what it is doing now).

The wind is (say what it is doing. Is it strong or light wind? Is it blowing hard or hardly there at all? Point at the map to show where the wind is blowing)

The sun is (say if it is hot and bright or covered by cloud).

After home schooling the weather should be (say what you think it will be like at teatime. Put the symbols on the map).

If you go out for a walk today, don't forget to (Say what you think is the best thing for the weather. Put on sunscreen and a hat? Wear a coat? Stay in the shade?)

Tomorrow in ....(pick a country in the UK) the weather will be .....

Thank you for listening.

Weather Symbols

Cut these symbols out for your weather report.

Talking about Weather Observing

Have a go at answering these questions. Draw a circle around the symbol.

What is the weather like today?

What was the weather like this morning before home schooling?

What do you think the weather will be like after home schooling today?
